

Attention Residents: Lawrence County is currently undergoing a Revaluation of all properties. Part of this process requires teams to canvas the County to capture updated pictures of all structures. These teams are clearly marked with ID cards, color coordinated vests, car signage and other unique identifiers to help verify they are conducting official County business. Unfortunately, we have had reports that some of the car signage was stolen while our teams were out working. We have also received reports that the individuals who stole these signs are impersonating our county staffed photography teams. This incident has been reported to law enforcement and our office has taken proper action to mitigate the situation. We are providing new signage that will be used from this point on. The new magnets will look like the one shown below. If you see signage/magnets being used that are different from what is shown below, please report this incident to our office and local law enforcement immediately. We appreciate your understanding.
